We are helping those who are without hope

Many people in this country cannot afford legal advice and do not qualify for legal aid. We are helping to provide hope for those who need it the most.

Each year law firms are unable to trace the owners of thousands of pounds of money - made up of amounts of less than £50. If we can't trace the owner, we will donate those funds to The Access For Justice Foundation, to help provide legal support for those who need it. If the rightful owner appears, we will return their money.
